

Sam and Misty

One Saturday morning, Sam decided to have a lazy morning. He made himself a coffee, picked up his paper and went to sit on his new, comfortable sofa.

Unfortunately, his dog Misty wanted a busy morning. Misty was ready for her morning walk. She picked up her lead and happily jumped up on the sofa beside Sam.

Sam looked at Misty. Misty knew she wasn't allowed up on the sofa. Sam frowned and pointed at Misty's dog basket. Sadly, Misty picked up her lead and got off the sofa.

A little while later, Misty heard Sam moving around and thought she'd try again. She gave a little woof, picked up her lead and went to stand by the back door.

She wagged her tail happily as she saw Sam coming, but Sam just bent over and picked up the post.

Misty stayed by the door, wagging her tail while Sam read his morning post and put the kettle on for another cup of coffee. He was determined to enjoy his lazy morning.